Four SSE's To Be Honored

by John E. Raymond

Four of the faculty members of St. Michael's College will celebrate the twentieth anniversary of their ordination to the priesthood on Wednesday, May 18, 1960.

The four Edmundites are Father Gerard P. Duford, Father Paul A. Morin, Father Henry E. Nadeau, and Father John A. Lanoue. They were ordained on May 18, 1940 by Bishop Matthew Brady at the Burlington Cathedral.

The four have been nearly inseparable since early childhood. Fathers Duford, Morin, and Lanoue attented high school together at St. Ann's Academy in Swanton, Vermont. In 1931, the quartet entered St. Michael's College, and after serving out their novitiate, they began their studies.

In 1936, the four graduated and went on to St. Mary's Seminary in Randolph, Vermont. Their ordination in 1940 failed to separate them. The four, according to Father Duford, have been together at least 90 percent of the last twenty years. When they were separated for short periods.

On Monday, June 6, St. Michael's College will graduate a Class of 140 seniors in the Memorial Auditorium at Burlington. The 57th Commencement address will be given by John W. McGovern, Greenwich, Conn., president of the United States Rubber Company.

McGovern will be one of three to receive the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws. Very Rev. Gerald E. Dupont, SSE, St. Michael's president, said that honorary degrees will also be awarded to the Baccalaureate speaker, Very Rev. Jeremiah T. Purtill, SSE, superior general of the Society of St. Edmund and on Vincent C. Ross, noted Scarsdale N.Y. publisher and Catholic layman who serves as vice chairman of the Board of Directors of Prentice-Hall, Inc.

McGovern, a Knight of Malta and a Knight Grand Cross of the Equestrian Order of the Holy Sepulchre, is a native of Philadelphia where he attended Temple University. After service with the Army Ordinance department in World War I, he started in 1920 as an accountant with the United States Rubber Company in Boston.

He was placed in charge of factory accounting at the East Cambridge plant, becoming office manager in 1923. In 1931, he was assigned to the Executive Department in New York to develop a budgetary control system for the entire company.

NOTED WAR SERVICE

By June 1941, he was assistant general manager of the tire division. Because of urgent preparations for defense, McGovern was selected to organize and manage a new munitions division.

Though the company had no previous experience in munitions, his work earned for him a citation from the War Department. In July 1943, when tires for military purposes became extremely critical, he was transferred back to the tire division and appointed General Manager.

He was elected a vice-president in 1945, a director in 1951, and executive vice president in 1956. The following year, he was named president and chief operating officer. Its operations are widely diversified in tires, footwear, mechanical goods, chemicals and textiles.

McGovern is also a Director of the Dominion Rubber Company of Canada, North British Rubber Company of Edinburgh, Scotland, Irving Trust Company of New York, Rubber Manufacturers Association, and National Vice President and Director of the National Association of Manufacturers.

New Science Publication To Foster Creative Writing Talent On Campus

The first edition of the St. Michael's Scientific has been completed and is ready for distribution. The Scientific, published jointly by the Pre-Medical and Chemical organizations having articles written by the members and designed to supplement the curriculum.

The editor of the Scientific is Robert Pellegrine who is also Secretary of the Premedical Society. There are two associate editors, David Dowd and Frederick Burkle, Presidents of the Chemical and Premedical Societies respectively. Joseph Rowan, Steve Austin and Russell Van Zandt are the assistant editors of the publication. The two faculty advisors are Dr. Stephan Kellner and Mr. Richard Lorenzo.

The Scientific consists of 10 articles written or compiled by student members of the two societies. Among these topics are wonder drugs for cancer, the chemical composition of cosmic rays, congenital heart defects. A section on Alumni news and a survey of practicing medical doctors who graduated from SMC, covering questions of interest to premedical students also is included. The four doctors who were sent the questionnaires were Dr. George A. Bonner, '42; Dr. Raoul Renard, '45; Dr. Frederick H. Treder, '43; and Dr. Edward Zak, Jr., '55.

Approximately 200 copies were made of which over half will be distributed between the two societies. The remainder will be offered to any interested member of the faculty and administration.

This year only one edition of the Scientific has been published but at least two issues are due for next year. Editor Pellegrine said, that the apparent success of the Scientific, shows that there is a definite interest in creative writing on campus which should be filled by not only a scientific type of publication but also by a literary publication. This would take care of the gap that exists in a college such as St. Michael's one of both arts and sciences.

Question: How important do you feel the social aspects of a college education are, excluding extra-curricular activities?

George Cronin, Class of '60
Rochester, New York

The majority of college men have ahead of them a bilateral career consisting of earning a living and marriage. The value of social activities are obvious to marriage, but they are also of great value to the career of earning a living. Through such contacts a fuller and greater understanding of life can be found, which will aid one in dealing appropriately with people and problems. In the education of a man one should strive for the Renaissance goal of the "homo universalis". "The complete man" well-rounded with more than just superficial knowledge in many fields, is the man who can make many contributions to his society. Much may be learned from books and equally as much may be learned from man; but in order to learn from man one must experience man.

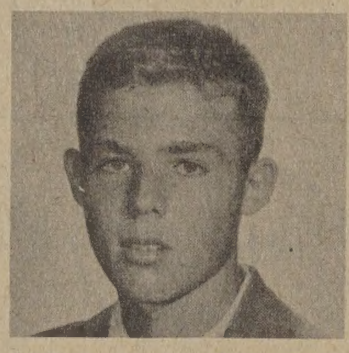
Robert Jacon, Class of '63
Cohoes, New York

Microscopic could well be used to describe the position of the social aspects of a college education. When social activities become more important than education in a student's mind, then it is time to quit. Social activities will be present in one's life constantly; the opportunity for education is present now and it must be grasped now.



Ed Rickard, Class of '61
Massapequa, New York

The amount of time to be expended on studying is a relative matter, but there is room in everybody's schedule for dating, sports activities, and typical college room discussions. Girls, sports, dorm sessions, I'm all for them, but they have to be taken in reasonable dosages. None of them should outweigh the primary objective of an academic education.

The Corporate Ideal

by Tom Walsh

The corporate ideal, or the drive for totality, has been properly designated as the Medieval Spirit. This theory was a simple one. It was one of law and order in things.

There was an eternal law, a general order in the created universe; and to fulfill his own destiny, man must discover it. For this purpose, man used two books, the book of Scripture and the "book" of nature. The laws which God had not revealed were mirrored in the latter.

The Ptolemaic system of material creation placed the earth at the center of the universe; the stage upon which man must, by his actions choose his last end. He was a universe in himself, a microcosm, a small model of the material and spiritual worlds. All material creation was made for him to use and enjoy. This was man's position in the cosmological order. Everything was inter-related, seen as part of the same scheme and obeying the same rules.

Beginning about the end of the eleventh century, while universities lethargically evolved from monastic and cathedral schools, knowledge, literature and art initiated a surge to encompass all things. Special emphasis was placed on structure and organization which were projected to the foreground as functional parts of the whole in which everything was viewed in its proper relation to it.

Exemplifying the art of the age is the architecture, the Gothic cathedral and the literature, specifically, Dante's Divine Comedy. It is said that art concretizes the spirit of an age. The Gothic cathedral is one massive whole which transcends the multitude of individual artistic forms, such as the high graceful arches, the sculptured facade and the grotesque gargoyles. The flamboyant arches and flying buttresses, functional parts of the structure, are an essential part of the decorative scheme. As in Dante's Inferno, the divisions and subdivisions of hell, the thirty-three cantos and terza rima, though a functional part of the over-all plan are never concealed. Dante's whole is mankind, yet Paolo and Francesca, the adulterers, are convincing representatives of their kind. They are real individualized figures in themselves.

The later middle ages witnessed a period of great educational advancement. From an enriched curriculum of theological and philosophical studies, grammar, dialectics, law and mathematical subjects sprang forth the seven liberal arts. This preliminary course to higher learning was divided into two groups, the trivium and quadrivium. The trivium consisted of grammar, rhetoric and logic, which were a prerequisite of knowledge, the application of which is found in the quadrivium of arithmetic, music, geometry and astronomy. Here, emphasis on the whole, education, is stressed and its organic segments can only be understood by its affiliation to it.

Scholasticism, the medieval study of philosophy and theology, although divided on some points, shows reason and faith, their relationship to each other and their extent and limitations. Faith was to be employed when human reason could go no further.

The guilds must be considered for they are not only the model of the universities' organization, but they also fit into the whole picture of the medieval spirit. The guilds strove for a totality in arts and crafts. Each industry was represented by a separate guild. Thus the craft guilds were much more numerous than the merchant guilds. The craft guilds regulated prices, methods of manufacture and the quality of materials and wages. Merchant guilds aimed at all times to obtain a monopoly of the town's trade. As in its parallel organization the university, the guild had its apprentice, master and doctor; again structure being emphasized.

The corporate ideal expresses medieval civilization in a multitude of forms. The convention included everything. It was the whole inherited picture of man in the system of the universe, of nature and of state; it was religious, moral and social; it was a vast inclusive pattern of order.

SMC Student Loyalty Fund Drive Ends

The Student Loyalty Fund Chairman, Pat DeAngelis has announced the receipt of $1320 for a total of 91% participation as the drive comes to a close.

A total of 691 students contributed approximately $2.00 each to make the drive a success.

Begun on January 5, the main goal of the fund is percent participation which serves as a powerful argument in the soliciting of funds from industry for the support of the College.

Assisting DeAngelis is Dick Hickey, '61, Dave Drew, '62, class presidents and honorary president of the Freshmen, Joe Kozlowski. Each president appointed captains in the respective classes to collect donations from a certain group of their class.

The Student Loyalty Fund is not a new idea. In 1947, the students had a better than 90% participation in a drive to share the responsibility in the building of Science Hall.

The success of the 1960 drive is seen as serving as co-operative effort in the construction of Lyons Hall, a 200 man dormitory, and the Student-Union-Dining Hall both of which will be completed in the near future.

Success Marks End Of Glee Club Season

Culminating its greatest season last Saturday night, the Saint Michael's College Glee Club presented its final concert at the third annual Parents' Weekend which was dedicated to the mothers of Michaelmen.

This past year saw the Glee Club take on its largest concert and traveling schedule since its revival in 1954. The Club toured throughout New England, New York and New Jersey, thrilling audiences at Rutland, Worcester, Burlington, Castleton, South Burlington, Staten Island, and at several campus concerts.

In its Spring tours, the Glee Club began its joint concert schedules with Saint Elizabeth's College in New Jersey, and Marymount College in Tarrytown, New York. Realizing a six-year dream, the Glee Club presented Louis Armstrong and His All Stars in February, a concert which helped pay for their first LP release from RCA Victor --- "Saint Michael's Sings". The album, which features songs of Saint Michael's and many others including a jazz session with Louis Armstrong on the "Saints", is now on sale in the College Bookstore and will shortly be available in the downtown record stores of Burlington.

Glee Club activities will again begin this summer when the newly elected officers begin correspondence with colleges, and private organizations in order to set up their concert tours for the 1960-1961 season.

The Glee Club will lose this year, after four years of faithful service President James Aquino, Vice-President George Mutrie, Robert Cullinan, Conrad Leclair, Joseph Maloney and Philip Spina.

Col. Bondurant To Leave June 15 For Pentagon Post

St. Michael's College is losing its genuine Kentucky colonel to the Pentagon.

Lt. Col. Wiley M. Bondurant, professor of Air Science and commander of the Air Force ROTC detachment at St. Michael's for the past three years, will become executive officer for the Assistant Secretary of the Air Force June 15.

Col. Bondurant, an Air Force senior navigator, who flew under Gen. Jimmy Doolittle, is also a lawyer and a certified public accountant. He received his law degree from the University of Houston and he is a member of the Texas Bar Association.

His B.S. in business was earned in 1940 at the University of Oklahoma. He will receive his Master of Arts degree in Economics from St. Michael's next month.

Col. Bondurant enlisted in the Air Force in 1941 and was commissioned at Pendleton AFB, on December 6 of that year, just in time to be assigned to coastal patrol when the Japanese hit Pearl Harbor.

He earned the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Air Medal while flying fifty six missions in the Southwest Pacific. For two and a half years, he was in Japan as head of the International Accounting Section which checked Air Force accounts with Far East countries.

Parents Witness Colorful Weekend With Students

May 7th saw an influx of many parents to the campus on the hilltop. Parents' Weekend had arrived with approximately 600 parents attending the weekend.

Many parents, after being greeted by their sons and the Crown and Sword members, headed for the classrooms to see their pride and joy display his knowledge. The dorms were also scenes of busy activity. Many students were seen struggling with "Care" packages, while mother and dad checked to see if the room was in order.

At 12:30, Father Dupont greeted the parents in Austin Hall. He, as well as Father Morin, Father Coombs, and Lt. Col. Bondurant, exponded on the academic needs of the students. Then, to the delight of many, they and their parents were treated to a steak dinner.

At 1:30 the baseball diamond was the scene of much activity as parents saw the Michaelmen nine come out on top of Lowell Tech.

Much to the dismay of some students, the faculty wives tea was a success, as parents met professors and found out just how well "Sonny" was doing.

Saturday night saw Austin Hall swaying gently to the melodies of the Glee Club and the R.O.T.C. band. We might give the boys in the Glee Club their due by saying "swell job, weary Mikemen."

Sunday the feast of St. Michael, saw Father Dupont celebrate a solemn High Mass in the chapel.

At 1:30 many a mother swelled with pride as her son went through his paces in the final Review. With the end of the Review also came the end of Parents' Weekend.

This was the third year of this type of Weekend and it is safe to say it was the most successful, mainly because of the weather and the activities. The weather held fast and many a parent was already making plans for a return visit - some in June for Graduation and others for next year's Parents' Weekend.

Father Trigory To Celebrate Anniversary

Rev. Marie Joseph Trigory, S.S.E., veteran Edmundite missionary and one of the early faculty members at St. Michael's College, will observe the 50th anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood, May 21, at Joingy, France.

Father Trigory, a native of Cherrueix in Brittany, took his high school and college work at Dinan, France. He came to this country and studied theology at Swanton, Vt., taking his vows there Sept. 5, 1905.

He was in the first class ordained at Burlington by Most Rev. Joseph J. Rice, third bishop of Burlington, on May 21, 1910. His first Mass was sung the next morning at St. Michael's College.

At St. Michael's, until 1913, he taught French and served as college treasurer. From 1913-1914, he was assigned to Swanton again for parish and mission work. He has preached extensively through New England especially in cities with a heavy French population.

When the Society of St. Edmund was invited to assist with the missions in the Great Falls, Montana, diocese in 1914, Fr. Trigory was in the first party to set up headquarters at Forsyth. There he worked until 1923, travelling through Rosebud country and helping with the Indian missions.

Because of his ability as a preacher in French and English, he was again assigned to Swanton from 1923 until 1941. In that year, he was given a mission band assignment out of Putney, Vt., where he also was prefect of chapel and house confessor until 1955. Most recently, he has been back in his native France, with an assignment at St. Thibault's Parish, Joigny, France.

There he will mark the golden jubilee of his ordination with a Mass of Thanksgiving on May 21 and a quiet celebration with the other Edmundites in France.

Field Day Should Determine Winner Of Interclass Trophy

On May 2nd the Sophomores started a 6 game winning streak that carried them to a first place tie with the Juniors, necessitating a playoff game. Behind the pitching of Al Wier and the hitting of Camilo Brenes (who went 3-5 and had 3 RBI's), the third year men took the Sophs, 7-5.

It was a hard fought contest all the way, although the Sophomores trailed the whole game, except for a 2-2 tie in the fourth inning.

The Sophs, led by Brian Mallon (2-4, including the longest hit of the day, a booming triple to right center) and the sharp fielding of Al Baldini, rallied in the seventh with two outs, and it looked like they might pull it out.

DALTON AND McKEON

Jim Dalton singled and Jim McKeon drove him in with a double. Then Bill Looney singled, driving McKeon home. Charlie Hart followed with a single, and Wier walked Al Hubacz to load the bases. Mallon then popped up for the third and final out of the game.

Regular performers throughout the season were: Senior Joe Phelan (hitting and fielding), Juniors Al Wier (pitching) and Camilo Brenes (hitting), Sophs Al Baldini (hitting and fielding) and Brian Mallon (hitting), and Freshman Bob Sweeney (fielding).

Below is listed the final standings; including the playoff game.

Juniors	7-3
Sophomores	6-4

Knights Win, Now 3-4; Larries Next

SMC Downs Two, Loses To Norwich

The Purple Knights of St. Michael's traveled to Northfield, Vt., May 6th to play the Cadets of Norwich. Tony Belanger pitched for the Knights and was tagged for 11 hits as Norwich won 16-3.

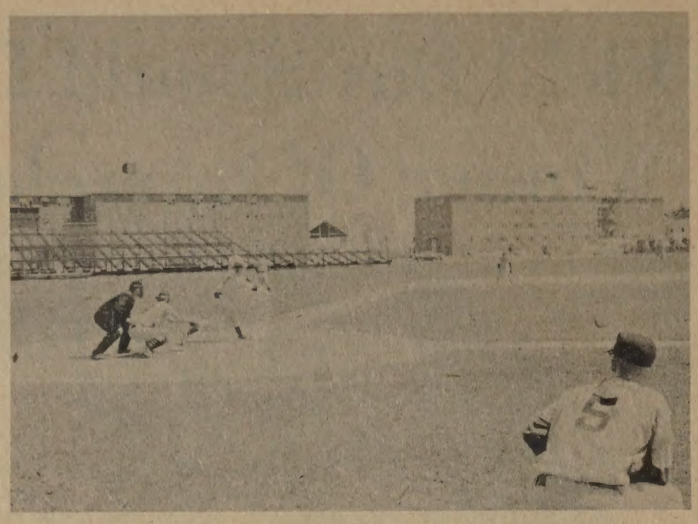
This is a game which saw the Markeymen commit eight errors in the field. This, along with 13 walks and a few assorted wild pitches and passed balls put the game out of reach. It is doubtful however if much of an offense could have been generated anyway, as the Knights garnered only 3 hits off the Norwich hurler.

On the brighter side of the picture was the good showing the team made against Lowell Tech. It was fitting that they should win their first game Saturday because it was Parents' Weekend.

Sophomore Wally Podres went the distance for Ed Markey's Knights, giving up three hits and walking only one batter. He was tagged for two scratch hits and a homer, which proved to be the only run off him all afternoon.

St. Michael's scored two runs in the first off Dave Donoghue who lasted only one third of an inning; he gave up four walks and a wild pitch. Also, there was 1 error committed by Tech. Relief pitcher Haller lasted only two innings.

The Knights picked up their third and fourth runs in the second frame. Tomasi led off with a single and stole second.



Denny McCarthy singles against Lowell Tech. In the foreground is heavy hitting Soph Tim Tomasi, who has been the long ball hitter for the Markeymen all year.

Haller issued Brian Tarleton a pass and then tried to pick Tomasi off second base. The throw went over the second baseman's head and when the center fielder bobbled the ball, Tomasi scored, with Tarleton going to third.

Tarleton scored as Carmody's grounder was too hot to handle.

The game was blown wide open in the third frame when St. Michael's produced four more runs, and routed Haller. Two wild pitches with the bases loaded and three Terrier errors gave the Knights three runs. Bill Kelly's long double added the other.

The only Lowell run came in the eighth inning when Terrier relief pitcher Bellamore hit a Podres change-up over Tomasi's head for a home run.

In a game played down at Middlebury Monday the Knights stayed on the victory path by reversing an earlier loss to the Panthers 5-2, behind southpaw Tom Lapine.

Lapine scattered 6 hits in winning his first game and went the distance, becoming the second Knight pitcher to accomplish this feat in as many games.

X - Country May Become A Reality

by Jay Stoeffel

Last Saturday, 20 aspiring Cross Country applicants held a meeting with "Doc" Jacobs on the possibility of a X-Country team here on the Hilltop. Jacobs said that if plans were started they would have to be carried out.

This group has been working out for some time now and time trials are expected to be held on May 16. This will give "Doc" some indication of the chances of the team and accordingly what class they could be entered in. The distance (either 3 or 5 miles) has not been decided on at the moment.

It was also announced at the meeting that Junior Bill Kane will be the manager.

Soccer Team Practicing Regularly

The SMC Soccer team has been holding regular practices every other day for next season. They have been stressing teamwork as opposed to individual plays.

The plans received a blow when it was learned that the NCAA forbids students not entered in the full time college program to play. This means that the foreign students cannot participate in varsity competition.

A few probable starters next year should be Dave Carmody, Jerry Boisseau, Bob Patterson, "Apples" Tarleton and Pedro Quiros, all Juniors.

As soon as we return next fall the players will start training to get in shape. No schedule has been announced yet, but it looks like we'll go against Norwich, Middlebury and a few others.

On Thursday St. Michael's Baseball team defeated Plattsburgh State Teachers College, 3-2, as Bernie Couture singled home the winning run in the bottom of the ninth. Wally Podres started and pitched 8 1/3 innings, but Tony Belanger picked up the win in relief.

Centennial Field was the setting Tuesday for the meeting of arch rivals UVM and St. Michael's. UVM, coming from behind in the sixth inning, took the game, 8-4.

Tony Belanger, who was bombed at Norwich, had the game well in hand until the sixth inning. At that time the Michaelmen were leading, 4-1, by virtue of a tremendous homerun by soph Tim Tomasi, and were playing good defense behind their pitcher.

But in the sixth Belanger, disturbed by a called "ball" that he believed should have been a strike, completely lost his control. After this he couldn't find the plate and walked six men in succession. A wild pitch and a passed ball were mixed in. After Ducatte struck out, Levi Brown singled in two runs and that was all for Belanger, with Vermont leading 6 to 4.

The Cats added two more in the seventh off reliever Wally Podres on three hits and a couple of stolen bases.

After Denny McCarthy singled in the second with two down, Tomasi hit his homer well over Evans' head, scoring McCarthy. An error and wild pitches helped the Knights to two runs in the fourth, singled by Whitcomb and Couture also figured in the scoring. The fourth run was squeezed in by Joe Dudley.

Vermont was led by the plate by Isles, Ducatte, Brown, and Silveira, each of whom had two hits, while St. Michael's was led by Tim Tomasi with his 4-bagger.
